If you have not shot any State Tournaments in the last year why? 12 responses

Lack of satellite locations to make travel with a family easier.

Just haven't had time with work

Mostly due to injuries to my shoulder however, I have taken a young man with down syndrome that I work with to a tournament

After living in multiple states that do not cover as large of a territory as Wyoming, I would encourage board members to create satellite locations for shoots and allow the use of "mail in tournaments" this would not only allow for more shooters to participate but would also drive membership to WSAA. I've lived in 4 different states not including Wyoming, all of which have thriving state associations and all of which utilize satellite locations for state events to lessen the barrier to entry. If there not anyone to run the organization and keep it going than it should end.

We all know how opinions are but here goes mine.
State should offer buckles as awards, increase shoot fee to $45-$50, this and multiple shoot locations for indoor shoots would help with participation.

Websight should stay up as long as it's not a large expense to the state.

Many people do not have social media, there needs to be other forms of shoot notifications via by letter or email, and the website needs updated

Communicate with your members. News letters emails to get people involved

I only answered no because there don't seem to be anyone wanting to step up to help run things.... looks like a lack of interest??

Clubs need to promote the WSAA

I think state 3D other state shoots needs to me held in a more Central location.

The social side of our club is missing. There needs to be club meetings/social events at tournaments where members can be together, dine together, have some acknowledgment of archers accomplishments, tell a few funny stories, and yes the Fruit Archer Award (given in compliance with award criteria to eliminate the nasty/meanspirited nominations). Bowhunters need to be acknowledged. To involve more young people, flyers, communications with such organizations as 4-H shooting sports programs to inform and increase more participation. A brochure, newsletter, A membership information brochure needs to be distributed to so as to inform of shoots, benefits, bowhunter awards, bow hunters honor roll, and social events. and hopefully increase membership. Volunteer positions should include publicity/communications position-get the word out. Thank you for this opportunity to contribute.

Plaques are ok but when you get multiple it is kind of hard to find a place for all your accomplishments
